Introducing The NEW 'eclipse' Bluetooth Watch

NTREN TECHNOLOGIES introduces the eclipse Wireless ($225, January) Bluetooth watch that is made of Stainless Steel and a sporty rubber band. The memory capacity is up to 2GB which equates to 500+ songs or thousands of pages of documents and files. Don't worry about missing a telephone call from your cell phone, as the accompanying Bluetooth headset will receive a signal from your phone to notify you of any incoming calls. The beauty of the watch disguises the cool rage that is "MP3 music anywhere at anytime". But, be careful what you say, this unsuspecting watch also has a digital voice recorder as well. Take this watch anywhere, as the USB adapter can be utilized on any PC or Mac.

Who Cares? Watch wearing consumers who also enjoy listening to music without wires everywhere.

Why Bother? Electronic consumers are tired of carrying around extra equipment when the technology is small enough to be kept in a watch.
